

MASATADA KOBAYASHI Scholarship for International Students

Keio University is offering a scholarship made possible through the generosity of one of the first graduates of Keio University SFC, Mr. Masatada Kobayashi. The MASATADA KOBAYASHI Scholarship for International Students is available for an exceptional international student who is accepted by the Admissions for Overseas Students (GIGA Program).

Purpose of the Scholarship

This scholarship is awarded to hard working students who display an aptitude and interest in advanced information technology and governance such as international strategy and social innovation, and seek to contribute to the global society using their acquired knowledge and skills. The scholarship is to be used to cover the academic fees starting September 2020.

Number Available

One for Fall 2020 Enrollment

Amount

JPY 1,000,000 per year

The scholarship will be used for the payment of academic fees required at the time of entering the University. The rest of the scholarship amount will be paid into the scholarship recipient's bank account after enrollment.

Duration

Up to four years, subject to annual review

Selection Method

Screening of application documents submitted for the Admissions for Overseas Students (GIGA Program).

Scholarship Renewal

Renewals of grants are considered in light of achievements during the previous year.

Scholarship students seeking a renewal must submit the renewal application, accompanied by transcripts for the current year, by the deadline stipulated by the university and attend a personal interview with members of the Scholarship Committee. Renewal procedures are announced in July of the following year.

Notification of Award

A Notification of Award will be sent out to the student selected as a scholarship recipient by postal mail, together with admission registration documents in early April 2020. The scholarship recipient may receive a request from the scholarship donor for attendance at related meetings or social events to the extent that they do not interfere with studies.